

WASHINGTON, D. C., SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1913.

Society

Society Hails Winter Season.

NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN.

THE early winter social season opened with a rush on Monday last and the gayety gained in impetus as the days passed, to culminate with the Thanksgiving charity ball at the New Willard. On Tuesday the White House was the center of national interest, for on that afternoon took place the Wilson-Sayre wedding, a ceremony which roused a widespread curiosity and excitement throughout the country, and the details of which were eagerly sought by the public.

Social history was manufactured on that eventful day, and will make interesting reading in the chronicles of White House weddings. The official stamp was placed upon the wedding when the diplomats appeared in their court dress, and thereby the demure, democratic maiden of the White House was accorded the same homage shown those of royal blood at a court wedding in Europe.

It was indeed a gathering of fair women and brave men whom the White House bride and bridegroom greeted in the Blue Room after the ceremony, and the many strangers in Washington who traveled far to be present will not soon forget the brilliant scene.

Those inside the White House were not the only ones who enjoyed themselves Tuesday afternoon. The merry crowd outside the White House grounds waited in patience for hours to catch a glimpse of the festivities and those taking part in them. The arrival of each guest caused a ripple of comment, and each motor and carriage was submitted to a close scrutiny as the long queue of vehicles moved slowly up to the entrance of the White House.

One stately leader of society, who has but recently returned to Washington from Europe, was on her way to the Columbia Theater to see the charity tableaux given there that afternoon. Her limousine was caught in the crowd at Connecticut and Pennsylvania avenues, and before she realized it her chauffeur was ordered by the policeman on duty to join the long line of motors and carriages on their way to the White House.

The society dame remonstrated in vain. Every time her chauffeur tried to leave the line of vehicles a policeman sternly ordered him back under pain of instant arrest. The footman also struggled to explain that his mistress had not been invited to the White House wedding, but no attention was paid to his broken English, and the big limousine was sent willy-nilly up to the very gates of the eastern entrance to the White House. There the sorely embarrassed society woman explained the situation to a police officer, and her chauffeur was finally permitted to break the line and depart; the other guests the society dame was taking to the Columbia Theater in her limousine convulsed with laughter over the near contretemps.

Washington drawing-rooms were deserted all day yesterday, for there was a general exodus to New York, and all who could procure tickets to the Army and Navy football game hastened on to that gay metropolis. Many Washingtonians will spend the week-end there.

The Thanksgiving hop at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., also drew a record number of Washington belles. Still others went farther north and spent the holidays at West Point. They also attended the Army and Navy game yesterday.

The formal social season is gradually awakening from its lethargy, and invitations to dinners and dances are being issued. The President and Mrs. Wilson have selected Tuesday evening throughout the season for their official entertainments, with the exception of their Cabinet dinner which will be given on a Thursday evening.

The members of the Cabinet have not yet announced whether the dinners which they each give in honor of the President and Mrs. Wilson will be continued this year or not. Shortly after the President's inauguration last March it was rumored that these dinners were to be discontinued.

Three interesting weddings will engross society's attention in the National Capital this week. Congressional circles are deeply interested in the marriage tomorrow of Miss Nell Fletcher, the charming daughter of Senator and Mrs. Duncan U. Fletcher, and Mr. Lionel Smith-Gordon, of Alderholt Lodge, near Salisbury, England. The ceremony will take place in All Souls' Church, and the bride's only attendant will be her sister, Mrs. Thomas Kemp.

Miss Fletcher is well known in Washington society, having made her debut here a few years ago. Her mother, who is president of the Congressional Club, is this city, also is prominent socially.

A charming wedding is to take place Wednesday afternoon when Miss Elizabeth Crosby Noyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Williams Noyes, and Mr. John William Thompson are to be married at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Ralph Walker McDowell, sister of the bride, will be matron of honor, and Miss Florence Moberly, of New York, will be maid of honor. The bridesmaids are to be Miss Lila Stanley, of Great Barrington, Mass.; Miss Dorothy Dennis, of Morristown, N. J.; Miss Dorothy Tracy, of Lakewood, N. J.; Miss Ruth Larner, Miss Frances Brooks, and Miss Ethel Noyes, cousin of the bride.

Mr. Ross Thompson, jr., will be best man for his brother, and the ushers will be Mr. Edward Fletcher, of Philadelphia; Dr. Riker, U. S. N.; Mr. William Davis, Mr. John Calvert, Mr. James Ballard Moore, and Mr. Maurice Malcolm Moore, all of Washington.

On Thursday afternoon St. John's Episcopal Church will be the scene of a lovely wedding when Miss Helen Huntington Downing and Lieut. Commander Hugo Osterhaus, U. S. N., will be married in that historic edifice. Miss Downing comes of a distinguished family, and she and her three sisters are noted for their beauty. Lieut. Commander Osterhaus is the son of Rear Admiral Osterhaus, U. S. N., retired. He also has many friends in Washington, having acted as aid at the White House during the Roosevelt and Taft administrations. The full dress uniforms of the bridegroom and his ushers will add much to the brilliancy of the scene.

Miss Alys Downing will be maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids are to be Miss Elsie Downing, youngest sister of the bride; Miss Anne Gleaves, daughter of Capt. Albert Gleaves, U. S. N.; Miss Henrietta Fitch, daughter of Mrs. Henry W. Fitch; Miss Marion Leutze, daughter of Rear Admiral Leutze, U. S. N., retired, and Miss Ethel Spears, of New York, a cousin of the bride.

Mr. Augustin Downing, jr., will be best man for Lieut. Commander Osterhaus, and his ushers, who are his brother officers, will be Lieut. Commander F. B. Berrien, U. S. N.; Lieut. Commander Robert Berry, U. S. N.; Dr. Karl Ohnesorg, U. S. N.; Capt. Hamilton South, U. S. M. C.; Lieut. Commander Russell Train, U. S. N.; Lieut. Commander Adolphus Andrews, U. S. N., and Lieut. Commander Chauncey Shackford, U. S. N.

A small reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents in Hillary place.

Notables at Game

Official Washington and nearly all the army and navy officers in or near the National Capital who could procure tickets went to New York yesterday to attend the game. Among the Washingtonians who entertained guests in their homes at the Army-Navy football game were the President, Secretary of State Bryan, Secretary of War Garrison, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Secretary of Labor Wilson, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, Attorney General McReynolds, Postmaster General Burleson, Admiral George Dewey, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A.; Maj. Gen. Thomas F. Barry, U. S. A.; Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigbee, U. S. N., retired; Rear Admiral B. B. Bradford, U. S. N.; Rear Admiral J. A. Rodgers, U. S. N.; Rear Admiral W. R. Latta, U. S. N.; Rear Admiral Richard Wright, U. S. N.; Rear Admiral T. B. Howard, U. S. N.; Rear Admiral W. A.

Mrs. DELOS B. LOGGITT (left) And her two sisters, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Matthews. Mrs. Loggitt's home in the Avenue of the Presidents is one of the most charming in Washington.

Catron, of New Mexico; John James, of Kentucky; N. P. Bryant, of Florida; W. J. Stone, of Missouri; H. A. du Pont, of Delaware; Miles Polinder, of Washington; Gov. Goldsborough, of Maryland; and Paymaster General T. J. Cowie, U. S. N.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Jasseraud entertained at luncheon yesterday in compliment to the retiring Minister of Spain, and the Minister of Prussia, and the new Minister of the Netherlands and Mrs. Rappard. Other guests were the British Consul and Mrs. Colville Barclay, the first secretary of the Spanish Legation and Mrs. Loftus, of the Legation of the Netherlands, and Mrs. Ransford Miller, of the State Department; Mrs. Huntington Miller, Count de Peretti de la Rocca, counselor of the French Embassy; the second secretary of the French Embassy and Mme. de Lahoulaye, and Count de Sartiges.

Mr. Truman Newberry, former Secretary of the Navy, and Mrs. Newberry sailed yesterday from New York for Naples. They will spend the early winter in Egypt.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, the latter formerly Miss Jessie Benton Fremont, and the late Rear Admiral John C. Fremont, to Mr. Henry Vaughan Hull, of New York, will take place today in New York, at the apartment of her brother, Lieut. John C. Fremont, U. S. N.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Herbert Shillington, the son of the bride, and the bride will be given in marriage by her brother, and attended by her sister, Miss Jessie Benton Fremont, and her brother, Mr. Jack Anderson, uncle of the bride, is to be best man.

The bride will wear a handsome gown of blue plush, trimmed with bands of pink fur. The maid of honor will have on a white chiffon, trimmed with silver lace and bands of chinchilla fur.

Mrs. John C. Fremont will not be present at her daughter's marriage, as she sailed recently for Italy to recuperate from nervous prostration.

Miss Juliet Fremont, who made her debut in Washington society some years ago, comes of a long line of distinguished ancestry. She is a granddaughter of Gen. John C. Fremont, the famous Indian fighter and "pathfinder." Senator Benton, a distinguished statesman of his time, was her great-grandfather.

Miss Helen Taft was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Glover last night.

A number of dinners preceded the Saturday night dance at the Chevy Chase Club. Among those who entertained guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. Mann, Miss Waterman, Mrs. Neale, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Ricketts.

Miss Dorothy Harvey, who has been visiting Miss Genevieve Champ Clark, has returned to her home in New York.

Count Gunter von Bernstorff is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, the German Ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff, at the Embassy in Massachusetts avenue.

Friends and relatives of a number of Washington College men who will be identified this year with the dramatic offering by the Triangle Club of Princeton University, are already at work "boosting" the appearance of the club at the Belasco Theatre, December 22, when "The Pursuit of Priscilla" will be the offering. Mr. A. M. Craig, son of Col. Robert Craig, of 1221 I street; Mr. J. W. Bailey, jr., son of the former Senator; Mr. J. M. Humphrey, jr., of 208 Bancroft place, and Mr. E. H. Hammond, of 2322 Florida avenue, are among the Washingtonians with the club.

A dance is to be given at the Playhouse on the afternoon of Monday, December 2, for the benefit of the Working Boys' Home. The committee in charge are Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Victor Cushman, Mrs. Moorhead, Mrs. Preston Gilson, Mrs. Arthur Lee,

Mrs. Barrington Moore, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Cary Langhorne, Mrs. Walter Tuckerman, the Misses Mackay-Smith, the Misses Whiting, Miss Mary McCauley. All friends of the home are asked to reserve this date.

Washington Colony at Nice

This is the first luncheon given by the board, and a special effort is being made to the ladies to secure a good number of new dresses for the small admission fee of 25 cents. The home cooking is expected to attract large numbers of business people and shoppers in the downtown district.

Although the Washington Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital has been in existence not quite a year, it has already demonstrated its efficiency.

Inaugurates Day-at-Home

Mrs. William B. Smith, wife of Representative Smith, of Texas, inaugurated her day-at-home for the season on last Tuesday, by giving a small reception in honor of Mrs. W. W. Bridges, of El Paso, Tex.

Mrs. Smith's guests were all from her State, and from the Congressional, Army and Navy circles. Mrs. Harold Perry Parmelee, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Robert L. Henry, who was married in the early summer to Ensign Parmelee, presided at the table.

Mrs. Parmelee is visiting her parents while her husband is with his ship, the Maryland, in Mexican waters. Miss Frances Smith, daughter of the hostess, assisted in serving.

It was a very pretty and enjoyable affair. Among the guests were Mrs. Morris Sheppard, wife of Senator Sheppard; Mrs. Schuster, sister-in-law of Senator Culberson; Mrs. James L. Jackson, of New York; Mrs. A. W. Gregg, Mrs. Daniel Garrett, Mrs. Jack Beal, and Mrs. Robert L. Henry, all wives of Representatives now in the city; Mrs. Capt. Glasgow, whose husband is stationed at Fort Myer; Mrs.

Robinet, wife of Paymaster J. D. Robinet, now stationed in this city, and Mrs. Normoyte, wife of Maj. James Normoyte, of the Quartermaster's Department. In addition were Mrs. Judge Clements, wife of the Interstate Commerce Commissioner; Miss Mary Brooks, and Mrs. Leigh Chalmers.

Mrs. Bridges will return to her home just in time for Christmas, and Miss Bridges will accompany Mrs. Adams to New York for the holidays, returning here for the remainder of the school year.

Mrs. E. Kohner and little daughter, Katherine, have returned from a short stay in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Burheim were at home Thursday last in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fisman, 223 Eighteenth street northeast, there was celebrated on November 25 one of the prettiest weddings of the season, when their only daughter, March, was married to Joseph W. Cotter, jr., by Rev. F. J. O'Connell. The ceremony was performed at high noon, under a bower of palms, ferns, and white chrysanthemums. The other rooms were adorned with yellow and white chrysanthemums, palms and ferns, carrying out the color scheme of yellow, white, and green.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe meteor, trimmed with chrysanthemum lace and tulle. The veil fell from under a chianti lace cap and was caught by a diamond crescent, her only jewel. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The bride was escorted by her only brother, Mr. Charles B. Horner, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Warren Horner. The maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Marguerite Muncy, of Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., whose gown was of blue crepe meteor and brocade. The matron of honor was Mrs. Charles B. Horner, who was adorned in mahogany crepe de chine and brocade. The maid and matron of honor carried large lace shower bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Walter White, of this city.

The bride's mother wore pearl gray broadened crepe meteor. The bridegroom's mother wore blue chrysanthemum. The gifts were numerous.

The bride and bridegroom departed at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for an extended Northern tour. The bride's traveling gown was dark gray velvet. She wore a long gray coat trimmed with fur and a gray velvet hat with French plumes.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotter will reside at the Carleton, Ontario road and Lanier place, on their return, after January 1, 1914.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gaudoff announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence, and Mr. Samuel M. Reves, of Philadelphia.
